

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

Parades Being Over the Business Sessions Begin.

THREE SEPARATE MEETINGS

The Men Almost Finish Their Work, but the Women Make Poor Progress—Ivan N. Walker of Indianapolis Elected Commander-in-Chief—St. Paul Gets the Next Grand Encampment.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 13.—The demonstrations in the line of parades being over, the 29th national encampment began its business session at 10 a. m., also the Woman's Relief Corps and the Ladies' circle of the G. A. R. These meetings were attended only by delegates. Meantime the veterans met in corps, brigades and regimental reunions all over the city.

IVAN N. WALKER.

The campfires with fireworks and other demonstrations continue every night during the week; elaborate programs with music and recitations being announced up to Saturday night.

The army nurses were entertained yesterday, and the Daughters of Veterans gave a brilliant reception to G. A. R. executives and other visitors.

Music Hall, where the encampment met, has a seating capacity of 3,250, and every seat in the house was occupied. None but G. A. R. men and accredited delegates were admitted to the hall. The delegates entitled to vote in the meeting occupied the main floor, while the visiting veterans remained in the galleries. There was considerable delay, and it was nearly 11 o'clock when the delegates were all at their posts. General Lawler, the commander-in-chief, was loudly cheered. As soon as quiet was restored he formally called the meeting to order.

Henry Watterson, whose oration at Pittsburg last year brought the encampment to Louisville, was escorted to the footlights and addressed the grand encampment in a speech full of patriotism and good taste.

Mr. Watterson was frequently and loudly applauded during the course of his speech.

In response to this address, Past Commander-in-chief William Warner of Kansas City spoke briefly. He said the boys in blue would never forget the generous and loyal hospitality of the good people of Louisville.

When he had done talking Commander Lawler said he took great pleasure in introducing James Whitcomb Riley, the Hoosier poet. Mr. Riley then read an original poem.

Following this Commander Lawler said the comrades had decided to honor Past Commander General John Palmer of Albany, N. Y., by presenting him with a token of their regard for the faithful performance of his duty while he was commander.

Judge Cochran would formally present the token. The token was a solid silver tea set. Judge Cochran spoke briefly and to the point. He was sure the boys could not have presented the gift to any one more deserving.

In accepting the present General Palmer spoke feelingly. "I can scarcely find words to express my gratitude to you, my comrades," he said. "I shall always keep it and shall always cherish it as the most precious of all my possessions."

The next feature to the preliminary program was the presentation of a gavel made of gold, silver and copper and studded with diamonds, rubies and sapphires to Commander Lawler. It was presented him by Senior Vice Commander O'Leary of Montana in behalf of the Montana division. It was given because General Lawler was the first commander-in-chief who ever visited the Montana posts.

Commander-in-chief Lawler made his annual address and was loudly applauded. After paying a compliment to the beautiful Falls City and her treatment of the assembled hosts, he stated that he had traveled 36,000 miles the past year, and had attended 33 of the 45 department encampments. He had attended meetings in every state save two, i. e., Florida and Arizona.

On the subject of pensions the commander-in-chief said: "We know that all the legislation enacted by congress in the interest of the old soldier has been brought about by or through the influence of this great, powerful organization—the Grand Army of the Republic—and those of us who are more fortunate physically than others, propose to keep it up just as long as we live. And while we are not asking for any new pension legislation, we do ask and insist that when a law is passed by congress that its provisions, as intended by them, shall be carried out and not misconstrued and misapplied."

any man or set of men of any party who may be in power.

"I am not a lawyer, but I know the verdict of any court of loyal men would be that after a man has furnished the proofs and has been granted a pension, that pension can not be taken away from him without due process of law. I know this is being done, however, all over the land, for I have seen the evidences of it in every department in which I have been—pensions reduced from $12 to $8 and from $8 to $6, and many cut off entire. Then again, a man who applied for a pension two and three years ago will receive a notice that his claim is rejected, then notified that his case is reopened and allowed, but only from the time of reopening, thus cheating a worthy man out of $300 or so.

"Many of our comrades thus dealt with are not able to bring suit to test the constitutionality of this sort of ruling of a pension commander. I would, therefore, recommend that the incoming counsel of administration be empowered to select a case and prosecute the same. It has been the custom of encampments to appoint a committee to prepare some testimonial for the retiring commander-in-chief. I recommend that no such committee be appointed this year, but that this money be used in making a test case as to the constitutionality of the act of June 27, 1890."

On the question of Decoration day the commander-in-chief said: "Let us see to it that the day is kept as a memorial day; let us denounce in our own communities any desecration of the day, such as races and games, excursions, balls and other amusements—of which there is too much on this day—the tendency is to forget the objects of its observance and make it a day of pleasure and recreation."

The commander-in-chief concluded by thanking the officers of the organization and his personal staff for their services during the year, and in touching language bade his comrades good-speed.

Concise and to the point was the report of Adjutant General C. C. Jones of Illinois. Summarized, it gave the following results: Members in good standing June 30, 1894, 371,555; gain by muster-in, 14,673; gain by transfer, 5,554; gain by reinstatement, 13,471; gain from delinquent reports, 9,343; total gain, 43,040; aggregate, 414,595. Loss by death, 7,368; by honorable discharge, 1,437; by transfer, 5,763; by suspension, 33,889; by dishonorable discharge, 140; by delinquent reports, 8,659; total loss, 58,956; members remaining in good standing, 357,639.

Inspector General C. V. R. Pond of Lansing, Mich., reported that 26,310 schoolhouses were flying the American flag.

Surgeon General O. M. Weeks of Marion made an interesting report, praising the establishment of soldiers' orphans' homes, and Quartermaster General J. W. Burst of Illinois said that the receipts of the counsel of administration during the year, including balance on hand in September, 1894, were $33,427 and the disbursements, $21,093. Of the balance on hand of $12,333 a sum of $5,733 is credited to the Grant monument fund, $331 to the Sherman monument fund, and $917 to the flag fund. There are no accounts unpaid, while the organization has $16,000 invested in bonds.

At the afternoon session each department presented its name for the committee to frame resolutions on the death of the young militiamen killed by the explosion of the caisson Wednesday. The committee was directed to attend the funeral in a body.

The roll was called for nominations for the next annual encampment. Colonel Albert D. Shaw of New York presented the name of Buffalo. L. E. Brewster of Denver presented the name of that city. H. A. Castle of St. Paul had sent to the encampment one year ago, and told how at that time she had withdrawn in favor of Louisville, and W. W. French of Tennessee extended an invitation for the next encampment at Nashville.

The first ballot resulted: Nashville, 33; Denver, 103; Buffalo, 226; St. Paul, 393. The vote was made unanimous and Commander Lawler declared that the next annual encampment would be held at St. Paul.

W. A. Ketcham of Indiana presented the name of Colonel Ivan N. Walker of Indianapolis for commander-in-chief as a representative of that fearless and sturdy loyalty that rescued the nation. He was a man who stood firmly when unmerciful disaster seemed to follow and fasten upon the armies. He had fought at Richmond, Perryville, and suffered in prison.

T. S. Clarkson of Nebraska said his department had presented his name as a candidate for commander-in-chief. He would, however decline to be a candidate against Comrade Walker and moved that the rules be suspended and the adjutant general be directed to cast the unanimous vote of the encampment for Comrade Walker. Mr. Clarkson's action produced a thunder of applause. The motion prevailed with a hurricane of cheers. When order was restored Commander Lawler formally declared Colonel Walker elected. He directed some comrades to escort the new commander to the platform, which was done amidst enthusiastic shouts and cheers of the old veterans on all sides.

Colonel Walker, in thanking the comrades, said that he deeply felt the high compliment which they had bestowed upon him in electing him to the highest office within their gift. He felt almost oppressed at the thought of succeeding such a long line of able men who had filled the office. He would, however, devote his entire energies to performing his duties.

In the contest for senior vice commander, both the candidates were from Kentucky, they were General E. H. Hobson and Michael Minton. General

Hobson being elected. O. M. Weeks of Washington was elected junior vice commander over J. O. Gregg of Montana.

The gentlemen of the encampment almost completed their work while the ladies of the two auxiliaries did not get much done. There has been considerable agitation about uniting them in this year of reunited brotherhood and citizenship, but the ladies of the auxiliaries are as far apart as ever and in spirit, if not in purpose, they will remain divided. The Ladies' Circle devoted to reports and in discussions therewith for the perfection and extension of their organization.

The Woman's Relief Corps had the trouble between the factions of Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Sherwood at Canton, O., exemplified by the sheriff, who entered without the password to serve an injunction of the courts on the national officers, restraining them from ousting Mrs. Clark. When the sheriff entered the ladies would not tell him who were the officers, but a friend of Mrs. Clark soon pointed out the officers, and the order of the court was served. Mrs. Tyler, the wife of the mayor of Louisville, delivered a fine address of welcome to the city, as did Mrs. General S. B. Buckner to the state and the south.

The opening session was devoted to welcome addresses and responses and to the hearing of the annual reports of the national officers.

From the information furnished in the annual reports of the 13th national convention of the Women's Relief Corps it is evident that that organization is in a prosperous condition.

SAVED THE CUP.

The Defender Wins the Third of the Series of International Yacht Races.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The international series of yacht races between the Defender and the Valkyrie for the America's cup is ended. On the whole it has been an extraordinary series, and while the result is satisfactory to the American people, two at least of the contests that went to make up the match were not. The Defender won in a clear race Saturday; in Tuesday's race she crossed the line behind the English boat, but was awarded the race on a foul; yesterday she had a walk-over, as the Valkyrie withdrew from the race just after crossing the line.

Lord Dunraven had said Wednesday night that he would withdraw his boat on the morrow if an absolutely clear course was not provided. He claimed that during the previous race his boat had been greatly interfered with, and as everything depended upon the outcome of the third of the series, he adhered to that decision so closely that Valkyrie merely crossed the starting line and then retired from the contest. Defender, who was well in advance when the handicap gun was fired, continued on her journey and went over the course well within the time limit. By her three straight victories Defender retains the historic cup for America.

So far as the committee was concerned it seemed impossible to do more to secure open water than it had already done, for when the preparatory gun was fired, the nearest boat to the racer was fully half a mile away, and the great majority of the excursion steamers and other craft were much farther off in the distance.

Later in the afternoon an attempt was made to see Lord Dunraven. He was invisible. His friend and adviser, Rear Commodore Glennie, was seen on the City of Bridgeport, the Valkyrie's tender. Mr. Glennie said that his lordship had gone away up into the country somewhere he did not know where. In answer to a question whether or not Dunraven would sail in a race, or a series of races at Newport or Marblehead, away from the maddening crowd of New York, for a cup, Mr. Glennie replied that he thought it very unlikely. He hardly thought that his lordship would again sail the Valkyrie on this side of the water, though he could not state what would be done with the Valkyrie in the immediate future.

AT THE TREASURY.

But Little Change Made in the Gold Reserve, Standing at $99,512,000.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—So far as reported to the treasury department there were no withdrawals of gold yesterday at New York, nor were there any deposits of gold except in the regular course of business. The true amount of the reserve at the close of business was $99,512,000. At Chicago there was a deposit of $75,000 in gold in exchange for small notes, and the balance of the net gain of $142,000 was obtained at the assay office.

The demand for Columbian half dollars in exchange for gold at par at the treasuries of the United States, except San Francisco, continues without abatement. At the present time there remains unsold only $822,000. These halves are perfectly new, never having been in circulation, and have the same legal tender and redemption qualities as other half dollar pieces.

Latest Outrage in China.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 13.—The British consul at Wen-Chow, in the province of Che-Kiang, has been stoned by a mob. Literature inciting against the English has been circulated by the officials. The inquiry at Ku-Cheng is being obstructed by the tactics of the officials headed by the viceroys, who is trying to exonerate the prisoners in the face of the most damning testimony.

Hundreds Killed in Honduras.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—A special from Tegucigalpa says that an earthquake has occurred in Honduras. Two hundred and fifty people are reported dead or dying. The property loss will amount to more than a million.

CHOLERA IN HAWAII

Forty-One Cases Have Developed Up to September 5.

MOSTLY AMONG THE NATIVES.

W. H. Goedel, a Sailor on Board the United States Steamship Bennington, Has Died of the Disease—Ex-Queen Liliuokalani Has Been Pardoned, and All Exiles May Return but the Ashfords.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—The steamer Australia arrived yesterday evening from Honolulu, bringing the following advices to the Associated Press, under date of Sept. 5.

Forty-one cases of cholera have been reported to date with 35 deaths. The disease attacks only the natives. Every effort is being made to stamp it out. No island steamers are allowed to leave port without first remaining in quarantine for five days. Passengers must undergo the same ordeal. The Australia leaves today for San Francisco with cabin passengers only.

The cholera, according to the general theory, was brought to Honolulu by the steamer Belgic, which arrived on Aug. 9 with 535 Chinese immigrants on board. The vessel had a clean bill of health, but following the custom the Chinese were placed in quarantine. On Aug. 18 it was learned that three of the immigrants had died, two from bowel complaint and the other from exhaustion.

As soon as it was publicly announced that a death had occurred at the quarantine station people became alarmed and declared that Asiatic cholera had broken out among the Chinese immigrants. Physicians made a careful examination of the first cases and declared that it was not cholera. More cases broke out soon, however, and this intensified the alarm. By this time the disease was declared to be genuine Asiatic cholera. It was decided to inaugurate a system of house to house inspection, and other precautionary measures were adopted to insure, if possible, the security of the community.

No cases developed among the Chinese at the quarantine station after Aug. 16, and the immigrants have since been released.

Up to Aug. 23 five cases of cholera had developed at Honolulu, with four deaths. On the evening of the 24th another case was reported. For five days there were no cases reported and people became easier, believing that the disease had been stamped out. But it was only a respite. On the 30th nine cases were reported, five of which proved fatal. One of the cases was a seaman on the Bennington named W. H. Goedel. He was taken ill while on board the vessel and lived but a short time. He had bathed in the harbor, and it is thought contracted the disease in this manner. On the following two days four cases were reported; on the third seven cases developed.

With the exception of the Bennington sailors, the scourge has attacked only natives. The chief difficulty in dealing with the cholera here is the ignorance and unclean habits of the natives and Chinese. The natives, of course, have no conception of the nature of the disease, its origin or the proper treatment of it. In this, as in all other respects, they are children and must be treated accordingly. The physicians are gradually locating the germ centers, but new cases arise in unexpected quarters and there has not been a sufficient number of facts to enable any safe generalization to be made.

The council of state held a meeting yesterday afternoon and evening, and after appropriating $10,000 for expenses incurred by the board of health, the matter of pardoning political prisoners came up for consideration. The executive recommended that Carl Widemann, the four Lane boys, Junius Kaao, Joe Widdlefield and 39 others be pardoned. The council adopted the recommendation.

At the same meeting the ex-queen was pardoned also, and the others will be liberated as soon as the pardons are made out.

FAST PACING.

Result of the Race Between Robert J. John R. Gentry and Joe Patchen.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 13.—Not only the grandstand, but the standing room capacity of the Louisville Driving and Fair association was taxed yesterday afternoon. A fast track and a bright sunshine favored the great racing race in which Robert J. John R. Gentry and Joe Patchen were to battle for supremacy.

At 2:30 o'clock, when the three horses scored for the opening heat, it is estimated that nearly 10,000 people were on the grounds. Robert J., the great son of Hartford, came off victorious; but for the fact that Joe Patchen went into the air when within 40 yards of the wire, in the fourth heat, there might possibly have been another ending. Robert J. however, was as steady as a clock and not once during the four heats did he go off his feat. The fourth heat, which was paced in 2:04 1-2, established a new record, being the fastest fourth heat ever paced or trotted by any horse.

Shot in the Neck.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Sept. 13.—Peter Boyle shot Amos Brewer in the neck yesterday inflicting a wound which will probably prove fatal. The shooting was the result of an old grudge. Several months ago Brewer filed complaint against Boyle for fast driving. Boyle was fined and then, it is said, threatened to kill Brewer if they met.

GRAND STAND FALLS.

Another Serious Accident Occurs at the G. A. R. Encampment.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 13.—While 100,000 people were watching the fireworks along the river front at 10 o'clock last night, a portion of the grand stand, on which were seated at least 10,000 people, gave way, and many were injured. No fatalities have been reported. Those injured, so far as known, are:

John Ferris, farmer, of Brookline, Mo., post No. 219, foot crushed and amputation necessary.

Mrs. Harshfield, 832 East Market street, Louisville, foot crushed and leg broken.

Mrs. J. W. Vreeland, 743 Third avenue, Louisville, ankle crushed.

Miss Mattie Morgue, Jeffersonville, Ind., foot crushed.

Miss Fedora Starr, 1219 West Main street, foot crushed and ankle sprained.

E. J. Burks, veteran from Springfield, Mass., foot crushed, toes amputated.

Miss Eva Willis, Morning Sun, O., foot crushed.

Miss Freida Senny, 1912 Jefferson street, ankle broken.

Mrs. Julia Adkins, 1212 West Chestnut street, right foot sprained.

Mrs. W. C. Nooness, wife of President Nooness, of the Kentucky wagon works, badly injured, leg and foot crushed, 1315 East Broadway.

Mrs. Maggie Ferris, 33 Portland avenue, left foot and ankle crushed. A 12-year-old son of Dr. Peter Guntherman, Baxter avenue, city; foot crushed.

Miss Bennett, Evansville, Ind., stopping with Mrs. Hayes, Fourth and Hill streets; foot badly crushed.

Colonel Joseph Packard, editor of the New Albany Tribune, oldest editor in Indiana; foot crushed and ankle badly sprained.

W. H. Gregg, Bluffton, Ind., back sprained, right leg broken.

Rider Stein, 1905 Main street, Louisville, right knee crushed.

F. D. Overton, Ninth and Broadway, Louisville, ankle crushed.

Henry Hart, Fifteenth and Prentice, Louisville, leg broken.

Kate Hines, daughter of Alderman Hines, right leg broken.

William Walters, Louisville, leg broken.

Mrs. A. J. Thurber, Morehead, Ky., left knee crushed.

Benjamin Scroggin, Bagdad, Ky., instep fractured.

Mrs. McMillan, Chicago, internally injured and both legs badly bruised.

R. R. Glover, Louisville, foot crushed and head bruised.

Mark Waldon, South Louisville, leg crushed.

Steve Guttman, South Louisville, leg broken.

Carrie Donnelly, Pittsburg, internal hemorrhage.

Robert Vaughn, Louisville, right foot crushed.

William Wilson, Louisville, internally injured.

Lulu King, Louisville, internally injured.

Mrs. Matilda Hayes, Louisville, legs badly bruised.

Mrs. Donald McDonald, wife of building inspector, foot crushed; also her 4-year-old son was injured internally.

The portion of the grand stand which fell was about 400 feet long and 60 feet wide. It was the lower part and only elevated about two feet. Immediately behind this part were seats elevated eight to 20 feet. On the entire stand there were 50,000 people.

That no one was killed is one of the marvels. Had the seats been elevated to any great distance from the pavement many deaths must have resulted. At it was the platform on which the seats were placed swerved to the rear and then settled to the ground with a crash. As it careened, the planks of which the seats were made were forced together and the feet and legs of hundreds of the spectators were caught as in a huge trap.

The noise of the exploding bombs and the fireworks and the cheering of the crowd was so great that only those adjacent to the portion of the grand stand which fell could hear it. Had it become generally known, a panic would have followed. As to the exact number of people injured, it will probably never be known.

Runaway Boy Comes Back.

GALLIPOLIS, O., Sept. 13.—David S. McCartney, a boy of 16, who ran away from a school at Hammondsdale, Md., last April, arrived in Pomeroy, where he was taken in charge by the marshal. He had written home for money to be sent to Pomeroy and was willing to return. He was in company of an umbrella mender and had been as far west as Kansas City.

Train Held Up.

WOODWARD, O. T., Sept. 13.—Yesterday afternoon, at Curtis station, 13 miles east of here, the eastbound passenger train "on the Santa Fe" was held up by four men who piled ties on the track and compelled the section men to flag the train. Two men went through the express car, but they got nothing. They were in quest of government money expected to pay Captain Barrett's company of the Tenth Infantry now stationed here. A posse is in pursuit of the robbers.

Those old soldiers will have a very important influence on the political sentiment of Kentucky, and the influence will be in favor of the Republican party.—Cincinnati Tribune.

Republican papers are the only ones that have tried to make any political capital out of the G. A. R. encampment at Louisville. But that's the way with them; they are always trying to run things into politics.

KENTUCKY has averaged a murder a day for the last forty-eight days. Much of the blood-letting is no doubt due to the high temperature that has prevailed. There ought to be a falling off from this on.—Portsmouth Blade.

If the Blade's editor will figure up the killings in his own State, he will probably find that Ohio has averaged as many murders as Kentucky in the same time. The Blade talks as if there is no blood-letting done in Ohio.

It takes a great paper to fully cover the field of a National encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic and give a complete account of the meeting, along with the news of the world, but that's what the Louisville Courier-Journal has done. It is doubtful whether a National encampment was ever written up as thoroughly and as interestingly as the Courier-Journal has done this week. Nothing has been published to mar the pleasure of the re-union of the old vets. In striking contrast has been the miserable efforts of the Commercial. Some of the cartoons published by the Commercial during the encampment were a discredit to respectable journalism, as well as a reflection upon the Grand Army veterans. Many of the Commercial's cuts would lead one to believe that the old soldiers make these annual encampments solely the occasion for drunken carousals.

PROTECTION WAGES.
The Springfield (Ill.) Register stated some days ago that wages in the rolling mills at that place are 10 per cent. higher now than the average rate under the McKinley tariff act. The Springfield Journal, a Republican protection paper, makes a curious comment on this statement, but does not deny its truth.

The Journal says: "The wages of the men at the rolling mills are now 100 per cent. less than they were ten years ago under protection and union rules." This is evidently a slip of the pen, says the Chicago Chronicle. "One hundred per cent. less" means nothing. The organ probably meant 50 per cent. less, or one-half the amount ten years ago.

There is also obscurity in the reference to "union rules" ten years ago, adds the Chronicle. It required not only iron-clad protection for the mill owners, but union rules by the mill men to keep wages up. Probably protection had very little to do with it, and the compulsion of union rules by which the mill owners were held caused the high rate of wages.

But the Republican organ dodges the question. In speaks about wages ten years ago. That was five years before the McKinley tariff law was enacted. The statement of the Democratic paper at Springfield is that wages are higher now than under the McKinley tariff five years ago. That fact is not denied. But it is said that wages are only half as high as ten years ago. It must have been, then, that wages were reduced one-half under the McKinley tariff.

This is apparently trivial, but it is really important. It amounts to a confession from an organ that McKinley wages were less than the wages that prevailed under the previous tariff. It shows that present wages are higher than the McKinley scale. It is a complete argument against a revival of McKinley principles in revenue legislation.

Send Off For E. R. Blaine.
Newspaperdom, a high class weekly devoted to newspaper interests, pays a former Maysvillian the following deserved compliment: "The Proctor & Collier Co., of Cincinnati, are putting out some very nice advertising in connection with ivory soap and their other large patrons, and in the line of street car work the announcements of Ivory soap are among the most attractive to be seen. How much of this is due to Mr. E. R. Blaine's efforts I do not know, but since a sociating himself with the Proctor & Collier Co. he is credited with having done some very extensive work."

Wants $5,000 Damages.
Flemingsburg Gazette: "Joe Sherman, a blacksmith near Mt. Carmel, has filed suit in Circuit Court here against Drs. A. M. and Alex. Wallingford, for $5,000, for malpractice. Sherman claims that the physicians set a broken limb for one of his children in such a manner as to leave the child a cripple."

"Drs. Wallingford have not as yet filed an answer, but we understand the child's injury was of such a nature that they claim it could not be entirely cured. The merits of the case, however, will be determined when it comes up for trial."

Miss Dollie Rose Bitterly Disappointed.

A special to the Post says that Miss Dollie Rose, the Manchester crippled girl who collected 1,000,000 canceled postage stamps for a firm of doctors in Chicago, on condition that they were to give her treatment, has been bitterly disappointed. The so-called doctors turned out to be adventurers without any standing whatever, and all the poor girl's efforts and those of her friends go for naught.

WILLIAM NELSON.

The Rugged Old Soldier's Services to the Union.

Some Anecdotes Illustrating His Peculiar Character—A Native of Mason County.

[Courier-Journal.]

General William Nelson was a notable figure in Kentucky during the early years of the war, and many interesting stories are told of him. He was a native of Mason County, this State, had served in the navy, where he was given the sobriquet of "Bull" Nelson, and was appointed by the Government to recruit the loyal forces in Kentucky. He established Camp Dick Robinson, and for him Camp Nelson was named. It is not generally known that the famous Camp Dick Robinson was located by accident. Nelson had decided that the camp in that section of Kentucky should be at the old Bryant Springs, near Crab Orchard, and had started a train of wagons loaded with Government stores for that point. The day after Bull Run, General Nelson met Assistant Quartermaster Capt. George H. Dobyms in Lexington, and as soon as he saw him exclaimed:

"H—! to pay now!"

"Why, what's the matter?" asked Capt. Dobyms nervously.

"The Rebels have whipped h—l out of us at Bull's Run. Where are those wagons?"

The wagons referred to were the ones then on their road to the proposed camp at Bryant's Springs. Captain Dobyms told him they would reach Lancaster that night. Nelson, afraid that straggling Confederates would find their way into Kentucky through Cumberland Gap after the victory at Bull Run and take possession of the stores at Crab Orchard, ordered Dobyms to overtake the wagons that night, turn them back and guard them at the forks of the road near the Dick Robinson farm until after the August election, and there the famous camp was then established, the delay on account of the election being occasioned by the desire to have Union men remain at home and vote on important questions concerning Kentucky's attitude with regard to the war.

The short conversation between Nelson and Dobyms at Lexington was thoroughly characteristic of Nelson. An accomplished gentleman, a trained soldier and patriot, and a skilful handler of men, he was brusque, at times almost to the verge of brutality, in the discharge of his duty, and noted for his profanity. He would brook no interference with his plans and countenanced no disobedience. He had a big heart, however, and often healed wounds inflicted in heated moments by conferring coveted honors. On one occasion during his stay at Camp Dick Robinson a young fellow named Billy Mountmullen, an Orderly Sergeant from Lexington, was called before Gen. Nelson to answer for some breach of camp rules, and during the conversation, which became extremely interesting, Nelson emphasized some reply by pounding on his desk with his fist and explaining:

"By—, sir, that's my way of doing business!"

At this young Mountmullen, who was about as emphatic as his superior, replied: "Well, if that is the case, General, all I have to say is that you have a damned poor way of doing business," and escaped through the open door.

This infuriated Nelson, and he at once ordered one of his aides to have Mountmullen drummed out of camp. In a moment, however, he changed his mind, saying: "D—d if that young fellow isn't too good a man to lose. He isn't afraid of me, and he won't be afraid of anybody else," and Mountmullen was very unexpectedly presented with a Second Lieutenant's commission.

Other interesting incidents grew out of Nelson's experience with raw recruits at Camp Nelson. To the plow-boys, mechanics, etc., who could not readily adapt themselves to the usages and circumstances of a military camp, Nelson was a holy terror, and many of them will remember his language upon occasions when the inspections were not up to his ideas of soldierly perfection. One day he was inspecting the arms of one of Wolford's companies, and when he pitched James Brent's gun back to him Brent let it fall in a very awkward manner. Nelson picked it up and pitched it back again, and again it fell to the ground. Nelson's comments were not pleasing to Brent, who was one of the fighting men from Casey, and on the next trial he grabbed the gun, slipped a cartridge into it, and was preparing to fire upon the General when ready hands interfered to prevent him. For this display of courage and fighting qualities Nelson made Brent a Major.

Nelson took a great fancy to the country about Camp Dick, and one day while walking over the Robinson farm with its owner, remarked to him as he pointed to a beautiful grove carpeted with bluegrass. "Robinson, that is the most beautiful spot I have ever seen. When I die I want to be buried there."

Not a great while afterward Nelson was shot at the Galt House at Louisville, by Jeff C. Davis, of Indiana, whom he had slapped in the face, and his last words were: "Send for an Episcopal minister and carry me to Camp Dick Robinson for burial." The remains were taken to the spot and buried beneath the spot the General himself had selected. The old Scotch gardener who dug the grave and erected a simple fence around it remarked as he finished the work:

"The Almighty has succeeded in doing what no one else has ever done—cornered Bull Nelson."

Twenty years after this, when the coffin was disinterred for burial in the Maysville cemetery, the persons at the grave removed the covering from the glass plate, and were struck with the apparently wonderful state of preservation exhibited to them. The features, with the exception of slight discoloration, looked perfectly natural, and no one could have told but that the body had only been in the ground a few days. From Camp Dick the coffin was taken in a vehicle to the depot at Nicholasville, when it was again uncovered for the purpose of permitting several old soldiers to review the remains, when, to the surprise of those in escort, nothing was left but ashes—a handful of dust. The jarring of the hearse on the road from the grave to the railroad and the action of the atmosphere had shattered the life-like image of the dead General.

General Nelson came of a good family. He was a brother to Colonel Anderson Nelson and also of Thomas Nelson, Minister to Mexico. Those who were associated with him speak of him with veneration. He had no favorites, recognized merit in any rank, and treated private and officer with the same consideration. He would "cuss" a Captain as quick as he would a driver of an ambulance, provided, of course, that he was convinced the Captain deserved it, and when he bought supplies for his men his orders were always to get the best, regardless of cost.

The Maysvilles at Home—The Boys Well Pleased With Their Last Trip South.

The Maysville ball team reached home at 11 o'clock last night. They had expected to get in yesterday morning at 10 o'clock but were so nicely treated at Hopkinsville that they remained over there Wednesday night.

Financially the trip was a success. The games both at Clarksville and Hopkinsville were very well attended, and, after paying expenses, the boys had some cash to divide up.

The boys say their treatment at Hopkinsville was the best they have received at any place they have visited this season. During their stay there they were entertained at the elegant new Laytham Hotel, the best in the city. The Daily New Era compliments the boys very highly on their playing, and says the team was the best that has visited Hopkinsville this season, not excepting even the Nashvilles who won the pennant in the Southern League.

Wellner pitched great ball on the late trip. In the two successive games when he was in the box at Hopkinsville, he let the opposing club down with a total of eleven hits, three in the first and eight in the second.

Stultz, who pitched such fine ball against the Hopkinsvilles Monday, had a small bone broken in the back of his pitching hand in the ninth inning. The score was 1-1, Hopkinsville had a man on second and one on third. The man on third started to score on a passed ball, but Stultz ran forward and got the ball as it was thrown him by Zimmer. He was standing near the base line ready to put the runner out, but the latter brought his fist down on Stultz's hand breaking the bone and knocking the ball about forty feet away. This is the way Hopkinsville scored her two winning runs in that game.

The Clarksvilles defeated the Nashvilles, Southern League pennant winners. Wednesday.

Unsettled Are Mining Matters in the Massillon District.

CONVENTION OF MINERS CALLED.

Delegates Will Meet in Massillon on September 24—Operators Will Be Asked to Make Some Concessions, Which Is Unlikely to Be Complied With—Other Ohio State News.

MASSILLON, O., Sept. 13.—Everything is in an unsettled condition in the Massillon coal district, and there may be another strike after Sept. 24 unless the operators make some concession, which is unlikely.

Trouble began to brew about a week ago, when the miners of the Warwick company went out because one of their number worked on an idle day. This difficulty was adjusted, and then the Upper Pigeon Run men refused to return to work unless their checkman, Fred Walker, should be reinstated. The operators refused to have him on the ground.

While these local incidents were disturbing the surface of things, the Palmyra men, 600 in number, voted to repudiate the action of the district in withdrawing from the national organization, and decided to do a little seceding themselves by pulling out of the independent Massillon organization and rejoining the United Mine Workers.

Then the district board for the independent organization met in Massillon and resolved to sustain the Upper Pigeon Run men, and not only that, but to hold a delegate convention in this place on Sept. 24, the object of which is "for the purpose of making a demand for an advance in the price of mining, and for a readjustment of the deadwork scale." The call says that all delegates must come instructed, and that the time is at hand when a blow should be struck to obtain higher wages.

THE heavy thunder storm last night was of the hustler variety. At 8 o'clock hardly a cloud was to be seen, the flashes of lightning in the northwest being about the only indication of the storm's approach. About half-past ten it was pouring down rain. The storm brought a delightful change in the temperature.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

Charley Sweet, Who Married a Dover Lady, Takes His Life at Their Home in Texas.

Charles Sweet, formerly of Fleming County, committed suicide September 3rd at his home in or near Ranger, Texas.

On November 5th, 1884, Mr. Sweet and Miss Annie Lewis, one of the handsomest young ladies of Dover, daughter of Mrs. Cornelia P. Lewis, were united in marriage. On the evening of the wedding they took passage on a steamer, leaving for Texas, where they had since resided.

Mrs. Lewis received a letter early this week from her daughter bringing the sad news of the suicide. The letter stated that he had been sick for some time and that his mind was probably weakened by his illness.

Mrs. Sweet is left with six little ones, the oldest being a girl of about ten years of age. The two youngest are twins, aged four months. She will dispose of her property in Texas, and return to her old Kentucky home.

Deceased was a relative of Mr. James Sweet, of Clifton.

Moore sent a telegram to his son, R. L. Moore, in Knoxville, stating that he expected to spend the remainder of his life in jail. He declares it is because he is an infidel that he is being "persecuted." The asylum is the proper place for him.

THE Ripley correspondent of the Georgetown (O.) News-Democrat furnishes the following: "George W. Biehn, of the Winchester (Ky.) Democrat, found the way to Ripley in time for the fair. And by the way, the golden days of late autumn will witness the happy marriage of George and Miss Jennie Adamson, one of the finest young ladies of Winchester, a teacher of the schools there and a woman of rare accomplishments. A trip of some weeks through the sunny South will follow the wedding. And it goes without saying that a host of old friends in Brown County will send congratulations and hearty wishes for all that is best in life for George and his fair bride."

BIG PROFITS Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system. It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand. It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading. Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time. WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success. For further information address
